

INDEX

TO THE

FORTY-SEVENTH VOLUME OF THE QUARTERLY REVIEW.

- Esor, first specimen of the composition associated with his name, 9.
- Alford, John, the Trowbridge poet-laureate, his auto-biographic verses, and lines on state reform, 95.
- America, birds of, from drawings made in the United States, by John James Audubon, 332.
- American Ornithology; or the Natural History of the Birds of the United States, by Alexander Wilson and Chas. Lucien Buonaparte; edited by Robert Jameson, 332.
- Americans, Domestic Manners of, by Mrs. Trollope, 39—trash and falsehood published concerning that 'terrestrial paradise,' 39—preposterous praises of republican institutions, 40—great merit of Mrs. Trollope's book, ibid.—points of difference between American and English Society, ibid.—boundless extent of country, 41.—want of neighbours, ibid.—slave population, ibid.—climate, ibid.—want of an hereditary aristocracy, 43—want of an established church, ibid.—absence of a national debt, 44—love of change, 45—absence of respect for old usages, ibid.—want of an indigenous literature, 46—native Indians, 47—swarms of liberated convicts, ibid.—Mrs. Trollope disembarks at New Orleans, 49—comforts of a Mississippi steam-boat, ibid.—the 'squatters,' 50—town of Cincinnati, and its inhabitants described, ibid.—fashionable society of the metropolis of the western forests, 53—country life, 54—prejudice against menial service, 55—difficulty of getting 'help,' 56—pleasant sketch of American notions on this point, ibid.—social position of the ladies, 58—religious observances, ibid.—scene at a Presbyterian church, 60—a camp meeting, 62—actual state of religion in America, 63—and of education, 65—system of open doors, 66—free and easy visitors, ibid.—relative condition of an English peasant and an American mechanic or farmer, 69—absence of gaiety, 70—a ball and supper described, 72—comparative influence of slavery and democracy on national manners, 72—observations on domestic slavery, 73—picture of the domestic life of the Philadelphian ladies, 74.
- Audubon, John James, his 'Birds of America,' engraved from drawings made in the United States, 332—his 'Ornithological Biography; or, an account of the habits of the birds of the United States of America, interspersed with delineations of American scenery and manners,' ibid.
- Bacon, Lord, quoted 23, 29.
- Bank of England, historical sketch of, with an examination of the question as to the prolongation of the exclusive privileges of that establishment, 408
- Banking System, 408
- Barnfield, James, his encomiastic verses on Colonel Berkeley's elevation to the peerage, 94
- Bentham, Jeremy, his address to his fellow-citizens of France on death-punishment, 183.
- Birds of America, engraved from drawings made in the United States, by John James Audubon, 332.
- Britton, the musical small-coal man, 102.
- Buonaparte, Charles Lucien, his 'American Ornithology, or the Natural History of the Birds of the United States,' 332.
- Catechism of Health, or Plain and Simple Rules for the Preservation of Health, and the Attainment of Long Life, by Dr. Granville, 394

2 S

Cato

Vol. XLVII. No. XCIV.

- Cato the Censor, his prescription for a fractured limb, 15.
- 'Cavendish, of the Patrician at Sea,' an impudent bundle of trash and vice, 134.
- Charles the First, Commentaries on the Life and Reign of, by I. D'Israeli, 457.
- Charles the First, Trial of, and of some of the Regicides; with biographies of Bradshaw, Ireton, Harrison, and others, 457.
- Chaucer, his description of a fox-hunt,
- Colling, Mary Maria, Fables and other pieces in Verse by, with some account of the author, in Letters to Robert Southey, Esq., P. L.; by Mrs. Bray, 80—interesting account of the authoress, ibid.—her lines on the death of her maternal grandmother, 90—her means of self-education, 93—her picture of envy, 98—and verses to her sister, ibid.
- Commentaries on the Life and Reign of Charles the First, by J. D'Israeli, 457
- Cooke, Colonel, his Observations on Fox-Hunting, quoted, 231.
- 'Corn Law Rhymes,' characterized, 92.
- Criminal Punishments, report of the Committee of the House of Commons on, 171—amelioration of the criminal code, 170—crimes now punishable with death, 172—the question as to the possibility of mitigating the law still further, considered, ibid.—forgery, 174—returning from transportation, 178—disproportion between commitments and convictions, 183—Sir Archibald Macdonald's opinion on capital crimes, 185—prudence of a change in the law considered, 192—transportation to the colonies, 208—condition of the generality of convicts in New South Wales, 210—punishment of the hulks, 211—effect of the improved state of our prisons, 212—effects of solitary incarceration, ibid.
- Cranmer, Archbishop, his life by the Rev. John Todd, 366
- Crocker, Charles, the Chichester shoemaker, character of his poetry, 93.
- Cupid and Psyche, germ of that wonderful tale, 8.
- Currency, state of the, its influence on the present discontents, 407.
- Currency, Letter to Lord Althorp, on the state of the, by H. Lambert, M.P., 408.
- Death-punishment, Jeremy Bentham to his fellow-citizens of France, on, 183.
- Democracy and slavery, comparative influence of, on national manners, 72.
- D'Hallo, M. Omalius, his geological speculations exposed, 116.
- Diderot, Memoirs, Correspondence, et Ouvrages inédits de, 301.
- D'Israeli, I., his Commentaries on the Life and Reign of Charles the First, King of England, 457.
- D'Israeli, I., his 'Eliot, Hampden, and Pym, a Reply of the Author of a Book entitled, 'Commentaries on the Life and Reign of Charles the First,' to the Author of a Book entitled, 'Some Memorials of John Hampden, his Party, and his Times,' 457
- Distress, present, statement of the causes of, and remedies for, 408
- Dumont, Etienne, (de Genève), his Souvenirs sur Mirabeau et sur les deux Premières Assemblées Législatives, 261—some account of the author, 264—his description of the gradual evolution of the anti-monarchical and ecclesiastical conspiracy of 1789, 265—draws up the celebrated 'Declaration of the Rights of Man,' 267.
- Eliot, Hampden, and Pym, or a Reply of the Author of a Book, entitled 'Commentaries on the Life and Reign of Charles the First,' to the Author of a Book, entitled 'Some Memorials of John Hampden, his Party, and his Times,' 457
- England, prospects of, 559
- England's Crisis; a letter to the Members of the Sheffield Mechanics' Institute, and the workmen in general, by Samuel Roberts, 407
- English Fox-hunting, 216—see Melton Mowbray
- English populace, disgraceful characteristic of the, 100
- Euhemerus, his theogony described, 22.
- Expletive verb, its imperceptible introduction into our language, 97
- Fauna Boreali-Americana, or the Zoology of the Northern Parts of British America, by William Swainson, Esq., F.R.S., and John Richardson, M.D., F.R.S., 332.
- Flaxman, Mr., his Shield of Achilles, 32.
- Fowler, Mr., his 'Tour in the State of New York,' quoted, 69.
- Fox Hunting, 216. See Melton Mowbray.
- Francis the First, an Historical Drama, by Frances Anne Kemble, 243.
- Geology, Lyell's Principles of, being an attempt attempt to explain the former changes of the earth's surface, by reference to causes now in operation, 103—importance of the study of geology, ibid.—Mr. William Smith the father of English geology, ibid.—utility of the study of organic fossils, 105—course of discovery which has led to the recent inquiries, 106—facts showing the modifications which various influences and conditions effect among animals and plants, 109—the question, whether the existing laws of life can have led to such changes of the species inhabiting the globe, as those with which geology presents us, considered, ibid.—object of the 'Philosophie Zoologique' of Lamarck, 113—doctrine of M. Omalius D'Halloy, 116—Mr. Lyell's theory, 118—conformity of the events of the historical with those of geological periods, ibid.—mutual wars of the different tribes of plants and animals, ibid.—changes now going on in the earth's surface, 120—processes by which organic and other objects are in modern times embedded in the materials of the earth, and scattered upon the floor of the ocean, 122—the Ussurmitarians and Catastrophists, 126—evidence of the former submersion of the greater part of Europe, 127—division of the surface of the globe into distinct provinces, with reference to the distribution of animal and vegetable families, 130—laws of the diffusion of the species of plants and animals, ibid.

 Granville, A. B., M. D., F. R. S., F. A. S., F. S. S., M. R. I., &c., &c., his Catechism of Health, or Plain and Simple Rules for the Preservation of Health, and the Attainment of Long Life, 394.
 Hall, Captain Basil, his 'Fragments of Voyages and Travels,' 133—effect of works of this description on the general tone of contemporary thought and sentiment, and on the materials and mechanism of popular language, ibid.—merits of the author's style, 140—his love of paradox, ibid.—'a man overboard,' 141—life-buoy described, 144—picture of sea-life in tropical latitudes, 145—'enjoyments a-head,' 148—dolphins, 149—the classical dolphin, 151—a shark chase, 153—eruize in the north of Ireland, 157—'tricks upon travellers,' 161—'sailor's pets,' 161—'Bonny Jean,' 162—the island of Johanna described, 166—account of the blockade of New York in 1814, 167—utility of the marines, 168—the ship-church, 169—the work altogether unique in literature, ibid.

 Hampden, John, Lord Nugent's Memorials of, his Party and Times, 457.
 Heavens, Mechanism of, by Mrs. Somerville, 537.
 Herodotus, character of his history, 37.
 Hesiod, Life and Writings of, 1—genuineness of his 'Works and Days' not disputed, ibid.—leading particulars of his life, 2—his contest with Homer, an elaborate fiction, ibid.—obscurity of the age of Hesiod, 4—character of his 'Works,' 6—leading aim of the poem, 7—extracts from, ibid.—his fable of the 'Hawk and Nightingale,' 9—his exalted code of ethics, 10—his rules and cautions, 11—his lesson in husbandry, 12—Hesiod and Virgil compared, 13—Hesiod's description of a land-storm in winter, ibid.—his rules for safe trading by sea, 14—his domestic advice, ibid.—character of his 'Days,' 15—comparative simplicity of Homer and Hesiod, 16—Hesiod's Theogony, or poem of the Generation of the Gods, 17—account of, and extracts from, 19—obligations of Spenser and Milton to, 23—its poetical merits, 24—his 'Shield of Hercules' characterized, 29—comparison between it and the Homeric Shield of Achilles, 32—language of the 'Works and Days,' 37.
 Historical Sketch of the Bank of England, with an Examination of the Question as to the Prolongation of the exclusive Privileges of that Establishment, 408.
 Hoare, Samuel, his evidence on criminal commitments and convictions quoted, 196.
 Holles, Denzil, instructive lesson in his Memoirs, 274.
 Homer, comparison between his Shield of Achilles and Hesiod's Shield of Hercules, 32.
 Homer and Hesiod, comparative simplicity of, 16.
 Hunters, Nimrod's remarks on the condition of, and on the choice of horses and their management, 216—continental rivalry in the management of the stud, 217—pictures of the ancient English chase, ibid.—wolf hunting, ibid.—fox-hunting, 218—ancient and modern sportsmen compared, 219—change in the horse called the hunter, 220—increase in the speed of hounds, 221—hard riding to hounds, 228—origin

- gin of our best packs of fox-hounds, 229—new system of preparing the hunter for the field, ibid.—celebrated breeders of hounds, 230—expenses of a pack of fox-hounds, 231—a run with fox-hounds, described, 234—a 'Snob,' 235.
- Industry, the Rights of, published by the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge, 407.
- Ireland, Chief Secretary of, Reflections on his Conduct, by a Church of England Man, 261.
- Jacob, William, Esq., his 'Historical Inquiry into the Production and Consumption of the Precious Metals,' 407.
- Jameson, Robert, his 'American Ornithology, or the Natural History of the Birds of the United States,' 332.
- Jonson, Ben, his 'Poetaster' quoted, 140.
- Kemble, Frances Anne, her historical drama of Francis the First, 943.
- Lamarck, M., object of his 'Philosophie Zoologique,' 113.
- Lambert, H., his Letter to Lord Althorp on the State of the Currency, 408.
- Letter to a Noble Lord who voted for the Second Reading of the Reform Bill, on the Amendments which it may be expedient to make in the Committee, 559.
- Lyell, Charles, Esq., his 'Principles of Geology, being an attempt to explain the former Changes of the Earth's Surface, by Reference to Causes now in Operation,' 103. See Geology.
- Mahon, Lord, his 'History of the War of the Succession,' 519.
- M'Culloch, Mr., large sum expended on his mineralogical survey of Scotland, 105.
- Mécanique Celeste, by the Marquis de la Place, translated, with a Commentary, by Nathaniel Bowditch, LL.D., 537.
- Mechanism of the Heavens, by Mrs. Somerville, 537.
- Melton Mowbray, 216—continental rivalry in the management of the stud, 217—pictures of the ancient English chase, ibid.—wolf-hunting, ibid.—fox-hunting, 218—ancient and modern sportsmen compared, 219—change in the horse called the hunter, 220—increase in the speed of hounds, 221—Melton Mowbray described, 222—description of the Old Club, 223—kennels and stables at Quor-
- dam Hall, 224—the formidable offence, 225—Melton on a hunting morning, 226—style of a Meltonian fox-hunter, 227—hard riding to hounds, 228—origin of our best packs of fox-hounds, 229—new system of preparing the hunter for the field, ibid.—celebrated breeders of hounds, 230—expenses of a pack of fox-hounds, 231—daring horsemanship of Count Sandore, 233—Mr. Fernelay's series of pictures, ibid.—Don Miguel's feats in horsemanship, 233—a run with fox-hounds described, 234—a 'Snob,' 235—his soliloquy, 241.
- Metals, Precious, Historical Inquiry into the Production and Consumption of, by William Jacob, Esq., 407.
- Millhouse, Robert, the Nottingham weaver, his poetry characterized, 93.
- Milton, his imitations of Hesiod, 10, 13, 25.
- Mirabeau, Souvenirs sur, et sur les deux Premières Assemblées Législatives, par Etienne Dumont (de Genève) 261—some account of the author, 264—great merit of the work, 270.
- Montesquieu, amusing anecdote of, 320.
- Munster, Earl of, his Account of the British Campaign, of 1809, in Portugal and Spain, 133—his lordship's character as a scholar, 135—his Hussar's Letters, ibid.—picture of Soult's flight from Oporto, ibid.—battle of Talavera, 136—general character of the work, 138.
- Mustard, the most rapid of all emetics, 73.
- Newcastle, Duke of, his Address to all Classes and Conditions of Englishmen on the Reform Bill, 559.
- Newgate, Edward Gibbon Wakefield on, 170.
- 'Nimrod,' his remarks on the condition of hunters, the choice of horses, and their management, 216. See Melton Mowbray.
- Nugent, Lord, his Memorials of John Hampden, his Party, and his Times, 457.
- Organic World, changes of, now in progress, 103. See Geology.
- Ornithological Biography; or, an Account of the Habits of the Birds of the United States of America; interspersed with Delineations of American Scenery and Manners, by John James Audubon, 332.
- People, English, necessity of improving the

- the condition of the, 92—one characteristic of, 100.
- Place, Marquis de la, his Mécanique Céleste translated, with a Commentary, by Nathaniel Bowditch, LL.D., 537.
- Plain Statement of the Causes of, and Remedies for, the Present Distress, 408.
- Poetry, one of the noblest amusements, 92.
- Precious Metals, Historical Inquiry into the Production and Consumption of, by William Jacob, Esq., 407.
- Present Distress, Plain Statement of the Causes of, and Remedies for, 408.
- Prichard, Dr., his Researches on the Physical History of Man, 131.
- Progress of the Revolutions of 1640 and 1830, 261—design of the author, 271—details of this able pamphlet, ibid.—wonderful and instructive resemblance between the revolutions of 1640 and 1830, ibid.—essential differences in the two series of circumstances, 288.
- Prospects of England, 559.
- Punishment of Death, Facts relating to, by Edward Gibbon Wakefield, 170—Reports of the Select Committee of the House of Commons, on, ibid.—ameliorations of the criminal code, ibid.—crimes now punishable with death, 172—the question, as to the possibility of mitigating the law still farther, considered, ibid.—forgery, 174—returning from transportation, 178—disproportion between commitments and convictions, 183—opinions of Sir A. Macdonald on capital crimes, 185—prudence of a change in the law considered, 192—transportation to the colonies, 208—condition of the generality of convicts in New South Wales, 210—punishments of the hulks, 211—effect of the improved state of our prisons, 212—effects of solitary incarceration, ibid.
- Reform Bill, Address of the Duke of Newcastle to all Classes and Conditions of Englishmen on, 559—Letter to a Noble Lord who voted for the second reading of, on the Amendments which it may be expedient to make in the Committee, ibid.
- Richardson, John, M.D., his Fauna Boreali-Americana; or, the Zoology of the Northern Parts of British America, 332.
- Revolution of 1830, stages of, 559.
- Rights of Industry, published by the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge, 407.
- Reflections of a Church of England Man, on the conduct of the Chief Secretary of Ireland, 261.
- Revolutions of 1640 and 1830, progress of, 261—design of the author, 271—details of this able pamphlet, 271—wonderful and instructive resemblance between the revolutions of 1640 and 1830, ibid.—essential differences in the two series of circumstances, 288.
- Riot and Rebellion, true causes of; or a Petition to the King, on behalf of the prisoners convicted under the late special commission at Bristol and Nottingham, 261.
- Roberts, Samuel, his 'England's Crisis,' a Letter to the Members of the Sheffield Mechanics' Institute, and the Workmen in general, 407.
- Self-education, 93.
- Slavery and democracy, comparative influence of, on national manners, 72.
- Smith, William, Esq., the father of English zoology, 104.
- Somerville, Mrs., her Mechanism of the Heavens, 537.
- Stages of the Revolution of 1830, 559.
- Struthers, Mr., character of his poem, entitled 'Sabbath,' 92.
- Styx, legend of the river so called, 23.
- Succession, War of the, Lord Mahon's History of, 519.
- Swainson, William, Esq., F.R.S., his Fauna Boreali-Americana, or the Zoology of the Northern Parts of British America, 332.
- Thelwall, Mr., effect of his lecture on Milton and Shakspeare, 93.
- Todd, Rev. John, his Life of Archbishop Cranmer, 366.
- Trial of Charles the First, and of some of the Regicides; with Biographies of Bradshaw, Ireton, Harrison, and others, 457.
- Trollope, Mrs., her 'Domestic Manners of the Americans.' See America.
- Twisten, Aug., his 'Commentatio Critica de Hesiodi Carmine quod inscribitur,' 5.
- Twice, his Treatise on the Craft of Hunting, quoted, 219.
- Virgil and Hesiod compared, 13.
- Wakefield, Edward Gibbon, his Facts relating to the Punishment of Death in the Metropolis, 170. See Criminal Punishment.
- Walsh, Sir John, on the Present Balance of Parties in the State, 261—striking passages from, 273.

War of the Succession, Lord Mahon's History of, 519.

What has the state of the currency to do with the present discontents? 407.

Wilson, Alexander, his 'American Ornithology, or the Natural History of the Birds of the United States,' 332.

Working Classes, necessity of improving the condition of, 99.

Xenophon, his Economics characterized, 13.

END OF THE FORTY-SEVENTH VOLUME,

LONDON:
PRINTED BY WILLIAM CLOWES,
Stamford Street.

